Maintenance

Regular filter replacement is a crucial part of maintaining the pod, required during the warranty period and strongly advised afterward. Keeping the filters clean is essential for both the pod's performance and the health of its users. When filters become dirty, they can lead to higher CO2 levels, which can greatly reduce productivity. This simple and affordable maintenance step offers significant advantages, ensuring optimal functionality and extending the lifespan of the product.

There are two types of filters:

- PRE-FILTER (In Air and Clean series pods)

Filters should be replaced every six months under normal office conditions and every three months in industrial environments. The replacement process is quick and straightforward, requiring no tools or special skills — it takes just about one minute to change a single filter.

- HEPA PARTICULATE FILTER (In Clean series pods)

Particulate filters should be replaced every 24 months in standard office conditions. The replacement process requires basic screwdriver skills, and it's recommended that two people work together to complete the task. Changing a single filter typically takes less than five minutes.

The pod comes with filters included for the first two years of use, with their cost covered in the purchase price. After two years, you will be contacted to arrange the optional purchase of a new 24-month filter set — pricing details are provided below. To ensure proper ventilation and prevent potential damage to the pod, always use original VETROSPACE filters.
